and you think, you are lucky to be on earth - now, and young??

Sure, things of comforts and convenience were never as magical and turning more so as fast. Opportunities seem to be springing all around for every one and there is this global perspective for everything. Great! Yeah??

Not really. Surely not, unless we help the Earth heal-up in a hurry. Do think about it all a bit hard. With all the lovely things we have created we are indeed pushing the Earth to become harsh to us, hopelessly sooner than ages later that we believed it perhaps would. With the still swelling ocean of our kind, all with wild demands, we are consuming the potential of the earth instead of living by its resources on renewal basis. And, now, all of a sudden, the millions of years we have believed, exists ahead, seem to be down to hundreds. Simple arithmetic on the resources doesn't match-up to even 200. Many things we can't do without wouldn't just last.

We sure have burnt out a long future 'period' of Earth ignoring the warnings of our own senses all of which seem to have hit the edge of their threshold limits to bear the ever increasing pollution in all the life critical matters. We already see flood of floods but not water good and enough even for drinking for all. Worse, we may have only messed-up with the Earth which may be also running out of its time, by time. If that's true, we have reasons less to feel guilty but to really worry seriously. Do believe; 200 years may be an over estimate!

35 now, you can't miss the brunt. Younger ones are only more unfortunate. You think that's rubbish? Do hope and wish it is but act by your fears, act for yourself and for your children.

35 and below is the set that has inherited a lifestyle that's damaging. Around 35 is the set which can take the lead, force the elders and get the youngsters in healing the Earth for some stretched out time.

Think, but get on with the first act fast. Give back to Earth its trees, faster than we have taken and see the Earth healing itself as fast as the trees grow, for your good.
